LECTURE ON DICKENS.

Large Audience Listen to Dr. Penniman at the High School Building.

Dr. James Penniman, of the University of Pennsylvania, lectured on "Dickens and His Works," in the High School building last evening. The lecture was free and a large number of persons took advantage of the opportunity to learn something about the popular English novelist. Much of the standing room of the auditorium was occupied.

Dr. Penniman is a young man of pleasing personality with dark hair and eyes and musical voice of rather deep pitch. Shortly before he was introduced by Professor Hockenberry, the electric lights disappeared and all the illumination the building had, save a gas light in the corridor, was from the are lamp in the street. The small boys grasped the chance of entertaining themselves and for a few minutes—lamentable as the fact may be—their "Young Americanism" cropped out in this form. "I think Reddy Connelly could be a liked that fellow if he tried." "But say, Kid, McCoy is the boy what's goin' to do 'em all. Jest keep your eye on him."

Some ingenious youngsters in the back row at a window amused themselves and a good portion of the audience by throwing brilliant silhouettes on the wall until the incandescence light was turned on again.

Dr. Penniman's opening remarks dealt with the drama and its development and the novel, which, since the seventeenth century, has with the drama—been a mirror of nature. It brings us in contact with phases of life and character to which we should be strangers without it. He said the power of the novel lies in its fascinating concrete presentation of matters which are coldly and abstractly treated by the essayist. Few read essays, while many devour novels.

The speaker carried his audience through Dickens' career and referred to his special training for the work he accomplished and to his work as being in a class by itself for the obvious reason that no other like it has ever been produced. On the whole the lecture was entertaining and instructive.

One Woman's Views

Everyone entertains some superstition, however emphatically he may assert to the contrary. The man who tells you with fine scorn that he hasn't a grain of it in his composition will probably refuse to accept of any preference. In fact, however much the world may laugh at women for throwing spilled salt over their shoulder, hesitating to begin a task or set forth on a journey on Friday, or to gaze at a man from a left obliquity, men will be found to be full of superstitions, although they may take more trouble to conceal their small weaknesses in this direction. I know a man, a brilliant lawyer who carries around a phobos horseshoe which looks as if it might have been in the pocket of a small boy during the entire period of his school days, and yet he turns up his intellectual nose at the girl who treasures the hind foot of a rabbit, killed at midnight in a southern graveyard, or the other one who wears a four-leaved clover dangling from a long chain about her neck.

The Mayor of Columbus, Ohio

Writes an Open Letter to the People of the United States.

Carter, of Missouri, Thompson, of South Dakota, Draper, of Tennessee, and Others Write Letters About

The American Catarrh Remedy—Pe-ru-na.

HON. SAMUEL L. BLACK, MAYOR OF COLUMBUS, OHIO.

To Whom It May Concern:

I can most cheerfully recommend Pe-ru-na as of the very best possible benefit in cases of catarrh and other diseases of the mucous membrane. This remedy has established itself in the minds of the people as of the greatest possible worth and effectiveness.

I have known Dr. Hartman for a number of years and am pleased to say that he is one of the leading citizens of this city, a man of the very highest standing and character in the community.

Respectfully,
Samuel L. Black.

Pelvic Catarrh.

took in gripe and pneumonia, and since then I could not rest day or night. The best physicians in the country could do me no good. I visited the Mulanphy Hospital, St. Louis and received no benefit. The attending physician told me I had narrowing of the outlet of the stomach, and the only remedy was to have it cut out, which I refused to have done. I then visited a great many mineral springs to find relief, among which were West Baden, Ind.; Las Vegas Hot Springs, New Mexico; Sweet Springs, Mo.; and Monticello, Col. I also took a great many different kinds of medicine recommended for dyspepsia, but found no relief.

Last February I read a testimonial for Pe-ru-na in the Central Baptist that suited my case, and I determined at once to try it. I have taken two bottles of Pe-ru-na and four of Man-a-lin, and I feel like a new man. None of my friends believed I would get well. I would not take any money for the good your remedies have done me. I think your medicines are all you claim them to be. I enclose my photograph.

Alex. Carter.

A Family Medicine.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Harrison, Riscon, Ark.

Nothing too good can be said of your medicines. They are better than any represent them. My husband, daughter and myself recommend your medicines as the best medicine we ever took for any disease. When I began using your medicines I only weighed 120 pounds; now I weigh 165. My husband can recommend the medicines as highly as I can.

Mrs. B. A. Harrison.

Chronic Nasal Catarrh.

Mr. Oscar Thompson, Toronto, S. D.

I was afflicted for several years with that dreadful disease known as chronic catarrh of the head and nose. After trying various catarrh cures without getting any relief, I began to take Pe-ru-na with immediate good results. I had severe pains in the head and nose. I could not be free of a constant desire to clear the throat of mucus, and my nose was entirely stopped up. I was getting very weak and low-spirited. After taking a course of Pe-ru-na I feel better than I have for five years and have no symptoms of my former troubles remaining. I am quite able to do my usual work without fatigue. I have every reason to believe that my excellent health at present is the direct result of taking Pe-ru-na, without which I should have been dead by this time, without a doubt.

Oscar Thompson.

Catarrh of Lungs (Consumption).

For many years I had been a continual sufferer from that dreadful disease, chronic catarrh. I gave up hope of ever being relieved. I tried every remedy my friends recommended, but all in vain. Finally I took my first course of Pe-ru-na. My friends had all given me up to believing me to be in the last stages of consumption. Having a bottle of your medicine in the room, I began to take it, and in a few days felt so well that I got up. I continued to take my medicine on improving at the time, until I am now almost a sound man. Can do as hard a day's work as almost any man. This happened four years ago.

J. W. Decker.
